What's NLP?

Neuro Linguistic Programming(NLP) is the study of the mind and the language on uses to program oneself. Richard Bandler and John Grinder, the fore fathers of NLP believed that every behavioral pattern has an algorithm, a structure to it and anyone's excellence can be analyzed by understanding this structure. This being the base NLP also believes that every person is unique and so is their ask from this very question, "What is NLP?"

NLP is an in-depth understanding of how mind works and how you can develop excelling strategies tailor made only for oneself. Any successful persons mind program can be analyzed decoded and utilized to provide every individual with the required skill set. To do so NLP has discovered and developed multiple tools and techniques.

About this NLP Practitioner Certification?

This NLP Practitioner Program has been curated to provide you all those multiple tools and techniques to master excellence. The program is designed in such a way that it participant is hand held during the process of understanding their outcome, visualizing their goals, getting clarity on their perspectives and designing strategies accordingly to achieve them.

As we know every individual is different so will their outcomes, goals and the difficulties or obstacles one will face in the course of achieving it. The facilitator makes sure that each of individual identifies their obstacles and then help them identifying the techniques that can help them.

We believe in experiential learning, so the participants will actually be practicing all the techniques they learn. This gives them 3 different opportunities to analyze, understand and decode the algorithm/structure of each technique. This helps the participants introspect as well as get different views and ides about the same.
